PREFACE

THE Sino-Japanese hostilities still continuing in some of the northern provinces, coupled with the anti-British agitation fomented in certain quarters, have seriously dislocated the work of a number of Missions, with the result that during recent months many workers have had to vacate their stations at least for a time and take up work in other districts. Most of these changes are recorded in this issue, thanks to the assistance given by the Secretaries and Treasurers of the various Missions and by the Associated Mission Treasurers in Shanghai, to whom, and to the Rev. Chas. L. Boynton, of the National Christian Council, the Publishers are indebted for valuable information and last-minute corrections.

Every effort has been made to make the Directory as complete as possible, and it is hoped the edition will be found as valuable as previous issues have proved to be.

Corrections and additions for the next issue will be greatly appreciated, and should be addressed to the Missions Directory, North-China Daily News & Herald, Ltd., 17 The Bund, Shanghai.

Directory of Protestant Missions in China, 1940

Index of Societies and List of Executive Officers

The arrangement is alphabetical, by the initials of the society's name, which usually conform to those used in "The 1936 Handbook of the Christian Movement in China under Protestant Auspices." The list aims to give in this order:

1. Society initials.
2. Official name of each Society.
3. Provinces in which it operates. These are in parenthesis, the figure (1) indicating that the station named is the only one.
4. China administrative address, with names of responsible officers to whom general communications should be sent. This includes, wherever possible, local telephone number (Tel.) and telegraphic address (T.A.) in italics.
5. Home Address (H.A.) of the Society, outside China. In several cases this is merely the foreign representative, or collecting agency, of an organization of which the head office is in China.
6. Telegraphic address (T.A.) abroad, in italics.
